The Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at California State University Fullerton, invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level with appointment to begin August 2018. We are searching for outstanding candidates in Civil Engineering, particularly in the area of Structural Engineering. Candidates with multi-disciplinary teaching and research interests and those with a passion for undergraduate engineering education are strongly encouraged to apply.

California State University, Fullerton is located in Orange County, 25 miles south of Downtown Los Angeles and 20 miles east of the Pacific Ocean. The university is located in an urban area with a diverse population with many cultural attractions. The department offers an ABET-accredited B.S. in Civil Engineering, an M.S. in Civil Engineering, and an online M.S. in Environmental Engineering. It serves nearly 1000 students and currently has 15 full-time faculty members. California State University, Fullerton values and is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research or service that they can contribute to the diversity and excellence of our community. Position
The successful candidate must demonstrate interest and ability to teach courses in Civil Engineering. Teaching responsibilities will include lower-division general civil engineering courses as well as upper-division and graduate level courses. Faculty members are expected to contribute to the diversity and currency of the curriculum by updating existing courses, proposing new courses, and teaching a variety of courses. The successful candidate is expected to conduct research involving undergraduate and Master’s students, resulting in high quality peer-reviewed publications. Multidisciplinary research collaborations within the department, college, and university are particularly encouraged. Positive tenure and promotion decisions require excellent teaching, strong scholarly and creative activities, and substantial service to the department, college, university, and professional community.

Qualifications
Required
- Doctorate in Civil Engineering or closely related; ABD’s may apply but must show evidence that the degree will be completed by the appointment date
- Undergraduate degree in Civil Engineering or closely related field
- Professional registration as a Civil Engineer or ability and willingness to get license within two years of appointment
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills in English
- Passion and ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Civil Engineering including laboratory courses
- Focused research agenda with external funding potential; publications in refereed venues within the last three years
- Ability and willingness to promote undergraduate and graduate student success through research, mentorship, advising, and other high impact practices
- Ability and willingness to interact effectively with a wide and culturally-diverse range of students and colleagues

Preferred
- University-level teaching experience in Civil Engineering
- Industry experience in Civil Engineering

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status or continuation of employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.
