The American Coal Ash Association Educational Foundation (ACAAEF)

The American Coal Ash Association Educational Foundation (ACAAEF) is pleased to announce the 2015/2016 Scholarship Program for students who have an interest in advancing the beneficial use of coal combustion products. The ACAAEF intends to award two individual scholarships: a one-time $5,000 award and a one-time $2,500 award to recognize outstanding students pursuing undergraduate or graduate degrees from an accredited program in the United States. The awards will be based on essays, coursework, academic credentials, recommendations and a demonstrated interest in the utilization of coal combustion products. Applications will be accepted from September 1, 2015 through October 16, 2015. Information and application materials will be available on the ACAAEF website (http://www.acaa-usa.org/About/ACAA/Educational/Foundation) beginning July 1, 2015. Scholarship recipients will be invited to present at the 2016 ACAA Winter Meeting in February and have their essays published in Ash at Work magazine. For more information please contact Alyssa Barto, ACAA member liaison, at (248)848-3816 or Alyssa.Barto@acaa-usa.org.
