

Hourly Wages for McCormick Undergraduate Internship Students 2015-2016

The average hourly wage for undergraduate internship students studying across all disciplines, including Computer Science, within the McCormick School of Engineering and Applied Sciences is $22.38, according to information that students self-report to the Engineering Career Development Office¹. Excepting data from Computer Science, the average hourly wage for McCormick undergraduate internship students is $21.00. This is significantly higher than the 2016 National Association of Colleges and Employers (NACE) reported average hourly wage⁺ paid to interns at the bachelor's degree level. NACE reports that across all disciplines in the US, interns are paid at a rate of $17.69.

The hourly rate paid to McCormick students broken down by department can be found in the chart below. Please note that there are unrepresented major fields of study, due to a lack of self-reported student data.

Selected companies include 3M, Facebook, Google, Intel, Microsoft, S&C Electric, SpaceX, Tesla, Siemens, Uptake, Motorola, Ford, PWC, and Pfizer.

*Denotes fewer than 10 reported work terms

¹ Data is self-reported by students participating in the Engineering Internship Program

⁺Source: NACE 2016 Internship and Co-op Survey, May 2016