Out and Environmental Engineering

FROM THE CHAIR / Summer 2023

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I hope that your summer is enjoyable and that you find time to rest and recharge. Whether you are spending time with family and friends, pursuing personal interests, or engaging in new experiences, I encourage you to seize the opportunity to rejuvenate and refresh yourself.

As we transition into the new academic year, our focus will remain on fostering a welcoming and inclusive environment that supports the growth and development of our community. Whether you are a student, faculty member, or staff, your contributions are essential to our collective success.

Looking forward, I am excited about the prospects of a productive and successful academic year. Please do not hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns. I look forward to seeing you soon.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

[Name]

[Title]

---

CCE Celebrates Class of 2023

The Class of 2023 has graduated from Northwestern University's McCormick School of Engineering, completing their undergraduate education. The graduates have demonstrated exceptional academic achievement and are poised to make significant contributions to their respective fields.

[Photo of graduates]

Huang Elected to the National Academy of Sciences and American Academy of Arts and Sciences

Professor Dengpeng Huang was elected to the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences (AAAS). This recognition highlights his significant contributions to the field of environmental engineering and his ongoing efforts to advance scientific knowledge.

[Photo of Huang]

Alonso Awarded NSF Grant to Investigate Novel Patient-specific Bone Scarring

Researcher Alonso was awarded a National Science Foundation (NSF) grant to investigate novel patient-specific bone scarring. This research aims to improve the understanding of bone healing and develop new strategies for regenerative medicine.

[Photo of Alonso]

Department Launches Minor in Architectural Engineering and Design

The Department of Architecture and Engineering has launched a new minor in Architectural Engineering and Design. This program is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of architectural design and engineering principles.

[Photo of students in a lab]

Graduate Students Win First Place at Illinois Water Environment Association Design Competition

The graduate students' team, under the guidance of Dr. [Name], won first place at the Illinois Water Environment Association Design Competition. Their project addressed a significant environmental issue, showcasing the students' innovative solutions and dedication to environmental stewardship.

[Photo of students at the competition]

No Stopping Student Creativity in Times of COVID-19

The pandemic has not dampened student creativity. Students have continued to participate in design competitions and innovative projects, even while navigating the challenges of remote learning and work. Their resilience and determination are truly inspiring.

[Photo of student projects]

Faculty News

[Profile of new faculty member]

Student Awards

[List of student award recipients]

Vision and Values

[Statement on the university's commitment to diversity and inclusion]

Contact Us

[Contact information]