

STUDENT FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

THROUGH GLOBAL HEALTH STUDIES

Through the generosity of our donors, Global Health Studies can provide financial support for students engaging in global and public health opportunities both on and off campus.

RESEARCH AND SPECIAL FUNDING FELLOWSHIPS

- John and Martha Mabie Fellowship for Public Health: Funds students working on public health concerns in the US and abroad.
- Radulovacki Global Health Scholars Research Fellowship: Funds student research abroad.
- Bernick Family Global Health Fellowship: Funds student research abroad or study abroad scholarships.
- Leslie Frost Sable Global Health Fellowship: Funds student research abroad or study abroad scholarships.
- Rohit and Pooja Gupta Global Health Fellowship: Funds student research abroad or study abroad scholarships.

EXAMPLES OF RECENT FUNDING RECIPIENTS

Public Health Applied Practical Experience

in Cape Town, South Africa

Anthony Engle, Radulovacki Research Fellowship

Sophia Moreno, Bernick Family GH Fellowship

(photo above)

Emory Global Health Case Competition

Erika Ruiz-Yamamoto, Mabie Fellowship for Public Health

(photo below)

South African Tuberculosis Conference

Durban, South Africa

Lyra Johnson (presented), Mabie Fellowship

Maternal Health Research in London

Multiple students, Frost-Sable GH Fellowship

Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis

For more information and to apply, visit

Northwestern | Program in Global Health Studies
WEINBERG COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES