GUIDELINES FOR FULL-TIME MSIT INDEPENDENT STUDY OPTION: MSIT 499 Course

Full-time MSIT students may opt to take up to two courses of independent study as part of their 12 required courses. The course taken for independent study must still satisfy the requirement area of the course it is replacing, e.g., an independent study course in security could be taken instead of MSIT 458 to satisfy the security requirement. Independent study cannot be used in lieu of MSIT 443. The topic of the independent study course must be chosen so that the student maintains a balance between technical and business courses. Independent Study projects must be of graduate level quality, representing a substantial effort at research, analysis and organization, and adhering to traditional academic formats and language usage. The MSIT director must approve both the project and the faculty advisor well in advance of the deadlines listed below. A final project or report must be prepared and submitted to the MSIT office by the end of the quarter in which the project is conducted.

Students who choose a business/management project should show the relationship of the project to information technology in the proposed outline, and then demonstrate a thorough understanding of the technology/technologies involved in the final report. Independent Study projects may be conducted by more than one student.

To secure approval for an Independent Study project, complete the following steps:

1. Define your topic in general and provide a justification for the course substitution to the MSIT director. The MSIT director will evaluate your proposal and will suggest possible faculty advisors.
2. Secure a faculty advisor for the independent study.
3. Work with your independent study faculty advisor to prepare a project proposal that is satisfactory to both of you. It should include the following:
   a. The purpose of the project and your intended outcome/deliverable;
   b. Your project-specific educational objectives;
   c. A moderately detailed outline that describes your project along with a week by week milestone timeline for completing the various stages and, if more than one student is involved, that identifies who will be responsible for which particular project areas;
   d. List of readings and/or resources to be used;
   e. The course(s) you will be substituting the Independent Study project(s) for.
4. Submit the proposal, along with the Independent Study Agreement (attached), to the MSIT director for approval. Before you begin the work, you, your MSIT advisor, your MSIT independent study faculty advisor, and the MSIT director must sign the Agreement.

Independent Study proposals are due on the following dates:
